A Newsletter for the Deacons of the Archdiocese of Santa Fe

Issue 55E

— Let us —
HOLD FAST
the profession of
OUR FAITH
without wavering.

HEBREWS 10:23, KJV

One of my favorite things about living in the great state of New Mexico is that we have four seasons. Growing up in Phoenix, I was denied that opportunity! It was always just summer and winter. And how I have really grown to appreciate the Fall season!

Change is an important aspect of life and, while our experience of change is mostly slow and incremental, sometimes it can be rather dramatic (even our seasonal changes can be that way). Sometimes we know that change is coming—we grow older, we anticipate the birth of a child or grandchild, etc. These liminal times can be exciting as well as stressful. As we wait for the announcement about a new archbishop, we may be feeling both excited and stressful.

Perhaps we can look at this as a metaphor for our lives as Christians as we journey through this life to the next. We exist in a liminal state, awaiting for the Kingdom to come. Soon we will be in the midst of Advent—a celebration of that liminal state.

Whoever our new archbishop is, we can be assured that, through the change, most of our ministry will remain the same. Let us pray for a smooth transition and for the health and well-being of our current Archbishop Wester!

As we wait, there is a lot of stuff going on. I hope that you will find lots of useful information in this newsletter. About 120 of you attended the retreat (most with your wives) and I was so pleased that the vast majority of you stayed until the end! I know how hard it is to free ourselves from ministerial responsibilities, but as Deacon Scott reminded us, it is critical for us to take care of ourselves, too.

We have a couple of in-service opportunities coming up, a new deacon formation class about to begin, information about the Rosary Rally, and much more.

Finally, I want to acknowledge Deacons John Cordova, Michael Illerbrun and Jeffrey Schaff, outgoing officers of the Deacon Council, for their remarkable efforts in reorganizing the council post covid. And thanks to Dcn. Steven Sais, the new Chair along with Dcn. Ed Leyba (Vice-chair) and Melissa Cole (Secretary) for their willingness to continue to build on the work that has already been accomplished.

As always, I am here to assist you in your role as a deacon. Don't hesitate to contact me if you need some support.

Peace,

Dcn. Keith Davis

Holy Ground

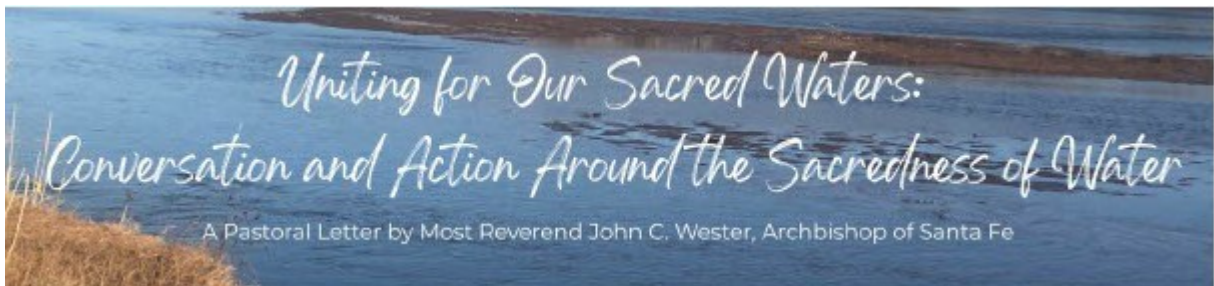

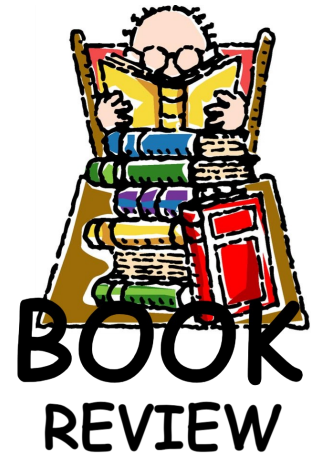

Why Toxic Leadership Cannot Survive Where Holiness Lives

By John O'Malley

Whether you are a victim of toxic leadership in the Church or you are a leader, O'Malley's book is for you. The author exposes the truth of how toxic leadership, the kind that ruins the lives of the ministers in their charge, has wreaked havoc on the Church.

O'Malley offers a message of hope—freedom for those who have been abused by such leadership and rescue for leaders who are trending towards being toxic themselves.

The author brings decades of experience and roots his thesis in Scripture (though using the King James translation may be annoying to some).

In "Uniting for Our Sacred Waters: Conversation and Action Around the Sacredness of Water," Archbishop John C. Wester invites Catholics and all people of goodwill to recognize water not simply as a resource, but as a sacred gift essential to all life and entrusted to our care. Rooted in Catholic teaching and New Mexico's unique spiritual, cultural, and environmental landscape, the pastoral letter calls for a renewed relationship with water; one grounded in gratitude, reverence, responsibility, justice, and action.

DIACONAL IDENTITY CRISIS

Who Are We? What Are We Doing?

Where Are We Going?

Saturday, January 30, 2027

8:30am to 4pm

Santa Maria de la Paz Church
11 College Ave, Santa Fe, NM
Presented by the Deacon Council

You were ordained a deacon—but how does Holy Orders change the way you serve? What makes diaconal service different from the same work faithfully carried out by the laity? Are deacons simply “mini-priests,” assistants to the pastor, or something distinctly different? And how are we called to serve both our parish and the wider Archdiocese? Diaconal Identity Crisis moves the conversation beyond “What can a deacon do?” to the deeper question: “Who is a deacon, and does Holy Orders change the way we live and serve?”

Together, we'll examine the identity of the deacon through the teachings of the Church, the state of our Archdiocesan diaconate, and the perspectives of our own priests and deacons.

Most importantly, you'll begin building a plan for your diaconate. You'll develop a personal Diaconal Rule of Life and begin creating your own S.M.A.R.T. Ministry Plan—a practical roadmap for living your diaconal vocation and a tool to help your pastor better understand your gifts, clarify expectations, and more intentionally utilize you in the life and mission of the parish. You'll also discern how your diaconate can serve the mission and social needs of the parish and the wider Archdiocesan community.

Know who you are. Clarify where you're called to serve. Build a plan to live your ordination with purpose. From Identity Crisis to Mission.
